

Swift ALSACE

Nestled in between Swift's Chamonix and top-line Moselle homes, the Alsace packs a practical punch with a serious sense of style

New for 2016, Swift's Alsace range is made up of two models, one with two bedrooms (sleeping up to six) and the other with three bedrooms (sleeping up to eight). A fancy feature wall, LED ceiling lights and a clean, contemporary design give the interior a kick of creativity and class, but there's more to this holiday home than just its looks.

The flood of natural light throughout the Alsace will come as no surprise when you see the multiple floor-to-ceiling windows across the exterior, and yet it's a bombshell of a benefit to live with.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Available in beige or green flavour, the Alsace is predominantly two-tone in finish, which is part of a tasteful, minimalist theme that continues inside.

The option of an extra sliding door at the front corner of the models means that a bottleneck of family traffic to and from the lounge during barbecue season is a thing of the past.

The floor-to-ceiling windows not only benefit you with rays of nature's brightest, but they also give you a great view, too, meaning that you can enjoy your surroundings from the comfort of the sofa, or feel safe in the knowledge that you can see the kids playing from most rooms in your home.

KITCHEN AND DINING

Here, the striking black hood over the cooker gives an almost monochrome feel to the kitchen, upping this Swift in the style stakes even further. Soft-close cupboard doors, along with a microwave, cooker and fridge freezer as standard all add to the level of luxury.

The freestanding table sits conveniently close to the cooking areas, should you need to go back and forth during mealtime, and seats four.

SLEEPING

Here lie the main differences in the range's model options. The four-berth, two-bedroom Alsace features an en suite in the offside corner of the master bedroom, next to a mirrored wardrobe. Pick the three-bedroom model, however, and the second washroom is located adjacent to the main shower room.

Both models have a master bedroom with king sized bed and a second room with twin beds. The three bedroom model reduces space in the master sleeping area to make way for another two single beds in a third room alongside, bringing the total bed count to six (plus the sofa bed).

All 2016 Swift homes feature the exclusive Duvalay sprung mattresses on all beds to ensure a great night's sleep.

LOUNGING

In the living area of the Alsace, stylish wood-effect flooring is complemented by the light, stone-look upholstery finish found here.

A colour-matched coffee table conceals two extra stools. Not that you're likely to need any more seating as the five-seater corner couch, complete with converting bed to sleep two more, is big enough even for large families. Here, you'll also find Swift's sofa-saving SwiftShield fabric for the soft furnishings, meaning that if you do spill anything – it happens to the best of us – you can simply wipe it clean with a damp cloth.

It's not just the furniture fabric that's stain resistant, either. So are the Regency carpets in the home. Spills 'sit' on the surface rather than being soaked in. It'll even let you get back to basics by cleaning with household bleach.

USB plugs accompany each of the electrical sockets throughout, meaning that you're never far from a game of Angry Birds whether you're resting and relaxing, cooking, or anywhere else in the Alsace.

STORAGE

The television unit is accompanied by a shelving unit that stands proud in the corner of the living area, while the kitchen gets the benefit of soft-close cupboards and a tasteful wine rack to accommodate your tasty wine stack.

A convenient collection of cabinetry and shelving, including a mirrored sliding wardrobe next to the master bed and cubbyholes aplenty in the second bedroom, mean that there's suitable stowage space for all family needs in sleeping areas, too.

EQUIPMENT

For 2016, all models are treated to a Fusion galvanised chassis, warranted for 10 years to ensure your home's important bits are protected from the elements.

Bonded exterior walls provide rigidity through their tried and tested sandwich construction, while the guttering is made to high-capacity specification for an equally high level of quality to fixtures and fittings.

OVERALL

Swift's Alsace offers an impressive level of luxury while still staying stylish and subtle in nature.

The atmosphere feels as refreshing as holidays should, all within seconds of entering the Alsace.

With so much on offer when looking at the spec sheet, it's surprising that Swift has managed to make this two-model 2016 range still retain a 'less is more' approach upon first impressions. We love it.
